FOREWORD

During our years at High Point High School we have grown to know its walks, its grass, its shrubs and trees varying season by season; to know its history, how it became what it is; to know about the others who occupied it, and how they lived, studied, and struggled; to know the moods of which the place is capable from year's beginning to year's end; and to wonder how it will change in the future.

In those fleeting years we hardly began to realize the wisdom and happiness with which we lived. A thousand experiences and thoughts came and went without our knowing their importance. We took the time to live while it was ours to take, before it was forever beyond our reach.

As sophomores, we experienced the confusion of selecting the right courses, finding the right classes on time, and meeting the dread of first mid-term exams. As juniors, we puzzled over geometry theorems, berated ourselves for not remembering that all-important test question, and dreamed of our first Junior-Senior Prom. As seniors, we felt the thrill of being accepted by National Honor Society or the tiny heartache at not being tapped, the discovery that we did learn something from those term papers, and the realization that these wonderful years were coming to an end.

We began to think about High Point High School where we gathered with our friends to put on shows; to get out the newspaper or yearbook; to read or debate in a club; to yell our hearts out for the Bison; to study, learn, and achieve; but above all just to talk and share our experiences and be friends. The 1961 PEMICAN is to help us remember all of these times—these cheerful, challenging, and changing times at High Point High.

Smiling faces, cheerful dispositions, and willingness to learn characterize the students at High Point High. The group below represents the individual personalities who will remember their cheerful, challenging, and changing times in high school.

Warm, spring days bring a look of lazy salitude to the HPHS campus and a touch of spring fever to the students.

Seasons brought changes in the activities of High Point High School. Fall was a cheerful time, filled with the renewal of friendships and the surge of school patriotism. Both classmates and teachers were welcome sights after the summer vacation. The election of class officers and homecoming attendants aroused in all students an interest in their school. Sometimes shivering, but always hopeful, students cheered the football team to its best season since 1953.

Although just as long as other months, the winter months seemed to pass more quickly. Basketball games, snowy days, Christmas celebrations, and mid-term exams kept students busy.

The last few months of the year ushered in the spring. Dances, outdoor sports, and spring fever characterized these months. Clubs held their final meetings, and all realized the activities of the year were about to come to an end.

Unexpected snow usually means an unscheduled vacation for the hard-working inhabitants of High Point High, but the eventual thaw brings them back to congregate again on the familiar tower steps.

moods of serenity and Each afternoon the 3:30 bell rang, and the stately yellowbrick building echoed to the sound of laughter and departing footsteps. In the morning the bell rang again, summoning the inhabitants back. During the day, 1400 students brought with them not only laughter, pride, and ambition, but also sighs from near-tragic disappointments. At night the halls were quiet and dark, save for the night watchman's light, and echoes seemed to keep alive the sounds of dropped books, slammed lockers, and hurried greetings.

During classes or on an uneventful Sunday afternoon, the quiet mood that surrounds High Point High School emphasizes the stately beauty of the old yellow-brick building.

Between classes, before the 8:30 bell, and after the final 3:30 gang, energetic students transform the halls into a teeming "Grand Central Station."

Life at High Point High was not all work, as shown by these students decorating for a highlight of the year, the Sophomore Prom.

Like many Senior High students, Jimmie Lue Hart, Ellen Eoves, Buddy Ridge, Steve Ramsey, Sonly Silverstein, Bill Burris, Ed Ellington, and Charlie Lewis find enjoyment in pausing to admire a new car or just to talk.

cheerful times together....

At High Point High you found that it was just as important to do cheerful things as to make progress with your work. You can't forget Homecoming Day when you got out of class to "labor" on a float; election week, filled with fervent campaigning; basketball games when the stands vibrated from clapping and yelling; class plays which required weeks of rehearsal; preparing for the spring proms, which was just as much fun as attending them; and of course, graduation, with that short walk — each step bringing a memory.

There were other times that you will also remember — the feeling of pride when you had the highest grade, the expectation of a hurried ride to lunch, the frantic search for a lift to an out-of-town game, and the thrill of the snow holiday!

These were unique times — times that would happen only in your years at High Point High.

Even the tree-lined drive with its familiar gateposts, its beauty and serenity, seems to present a challenge to those who enter there.

Challenges are met not only through academic courses but also in courses such as home economics. Libby Chondler, Rose Anne Boyles, and Pot Kidd show how the course prepares students for later life.

Jimmy Simeon sweeps end against Reidsville during the Homecoming game as Tommy Marley runs in for blocking assistance. Final score proved the Bison on top, 6-0.

Time at High Point High was not given to you to spend but to invest. It was your most precious possession. It carried with it no guarantee that it would serve you, but it was only made available. Many times during your high school years you stopped to think: "What have I learned today that I shall remember a month, a year, or five years from now?"

You grew to realize that education was a storing of time for later use, rather than cramming for examinations, struggling with math problems, or groping for the right word in a theme. Even though you felt like giving up at times, that small glimpse of success ahead — that chance for further achievement and a secure place in the world — kept you going.

Miss Louise Tapp, Ja Dunbar, Nancy Clinard, Jean Craven, Becky Bradner, and Cannie Newnam realize that visits to colleges and universities for conventions make the dream of future life a reality.

In these times at High Point High, knowledge extended into new areas. Learning proceeded at a furious rate, making complexity more complex every day. You surprised yourself by rising above your own limitations and accomplishing things of which you never would have thought yourself capable — you grew in maturity. You worked to keep old friendships in repair and to cultivate new ones — you grew in individualism.

You learned that the advice of others was sometimes worth more than your own ideas — you grew in respect. With the compiling of more facts and the need for their use, you began to wonder about people, places, and things — you grew in alertness. Helping yourself by helping others made you have a feeling of achievement and responsibility — you grew in self-satisfaction. All the thousands of events you experienced and all the thoughts that passed through your mind made you want to learn more and more — you grew in ambition.

You left High Point High, your friends, your classrooms, your influences, your life for three, and for some, four years. You left for new experiences in college, in business, in family relations. You carried with you new ideas and thoughts. This was a time for education — that you might be able to manage social, economic, and political affairs with wisdom, and to achieve peace, justice, and co-operation among men and nations.

Even the everyday occurrence of leaving school changes, for each day students leave with more knowledge and a growth in maturity.

College Day gives Van Aulbert, Dickie Kaantz, and Ashley Marris a chance to learn about State College, their choice for further education, from its representative.

Naan brings a mad rush to the cars, which are ever-increasing in number, for hurried rides to lunch.

J. C. Epting and Dea Fetner are like many friends at Senior High who find time to talk and rest on the school campus after lunch.

Judy Culp shows not only the pride and achievement of graduation but also the sadness of leaving High Point High for the last time.

Before the faculty meeting begins, Mrs. Harris finishes grading some test papers, as Mrs. Halder shows how she keeps her records to Mr. Sigman, a practice teacher from High Point College.

Mrs. Ferrell, Mrs. Teague (practice teacher from High Point College), and Miss Medford enjoy getting together at a faculty meeting after a full day's work.

Innumerable people gave their time to us in our years at High Point High. We first thought of our parents, who understood our anxieties, our infatuations, our foolish pride, and our overflowing store of "knowledge." They gave their time to us constantly, because it was the natural thing for them to do. In return, we gave them a portion of our time.

Then we thought of our friends who gave more help and consideration than we could ever pay back, but we knew we had tried.

We then remembered a group of people whom most of us had never thought about repaying — our teachers. We had always thought: "Teachers only opened the door to education; we entered by ourselves." But next we wondered: "Would we have entered that door, if a teacher had not opened it?"

To show our thanks and appreciation for being just what you are, we, the members of the Senior Class gratefully dedicate the 1961 Pemican to you, the teachers of High Point High — to you, who gave your time to us.

Each of your 540 mornings at HPHS seemed alike—yet each was different, holding a significant event in your life. The same friends greeted you with the same, “Hi”, however, that one word brought a warm feeling inside which became deeper each day . . . . You entered the same classes and saw the same teachers, but you learned something new from that old, familiar book every time you opened it. Once in a while you actually wished away your “monotonous” school days, but on departing, you realized that these times were basic ingredients to a rich, full life.

English class is not just a time for lecturing and note-taking, as Trudge Herbert and Jim Van Anda realize when struggling with tricky grammar exercises.

The library always manages to satisfy the wide range of reading interests found in the school. Here Ann Van Hook, Betty Lewis, and Brenda Daily search the shelves for report material.

English teachers at HPHS stressed the importance of accurate punctuation, sentence structure, and spelling. Sophomores added to their reading skills through participation in the SRA Reading Laboratory. Juniors read Emerson, Thoreau, and Whitman. Seniors renewed their acquaintance with Shakespeare, Wordsworth, and the modern English poets, while students of Business English IV worked diligently to perfect their knowledge of spelling, punctuation, and vocabulary.

Reports to give, notebooks to complete, biographical sketches to prepare for history — all these required the materials of a well-stocked library. Through the NDEA, the library was able to double its purchasing power for new books and materials. Many new books in mathematics and science were supplemented by illustrative films and other learning devices.

In the library, Linda Prather concentrates upon finding just the right word for an English theme or the best information for a history report.

become better readers, speakers, writers.

Latin courses at HPHS gave students an opportunity to read Caesar's "Gallic Wars" and to study the culture of ancient Rome. Word study and translations furnished material for vocabulary growth and lively class discussions. Special projects on art and social customs helped students to increase their knowledge of the Latin people and of the contributions of Roman civilization to the modern world.

Speech classes at HPHS enabled students to gain poise and skill in speaking through such activities as parliamentary procedure, story-telling, panel discussions, and dramatics. Speakers participated in three contests, winning high honors in each. In April the students made a field trip to Washington, D. C.

Keith Connor and Bobby Garner demonstrate their knowledge of Latin conjugations on a blackboard assignment.

Vicki Snider reads in her best form to a receptive audience in speech class.

Languages create interest in other lands,

Clark Dillon, Rony Burge, Brendo Dockery, and Solly Osborn learn that pronouncing French words together improves their individual accents.

Language Day gives these Spanish students, Joan Wood and Darrell Odom, a chance to show off talent and colorful costumes at the same time.

Spanish and French are the two modern foreign languages taught at HPHS. First-year Spanish students tackled challenging vocabularies and translations, supplementing their studies with murals and scrapbooks. In addition to their regular work, second-year students learned songs, read poetry, and studied the traditions of the Spanish people.

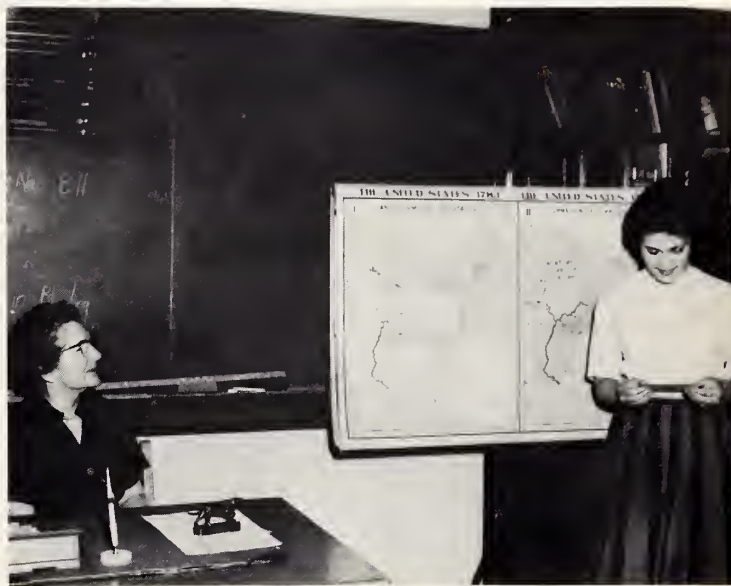

Language Day and the State Spanish Examination challenged the "Spaniards" to show their language skills. This year, for the first time, classes had the opportunity to hear speakers on various language topics.

Enthusiastic first-year French students studied grammar and improved their accents by listening to French pronunciation records. They also participated in the State Language Examination program and sent representatives to the Language Day celebration. The second-year French students made an original tape recording about High Point to send to the twin school, Lycee-Dupuy-de Lome, Lorient, France.

Baxter Kelly and Jimmie Hart admire Bab Zimmerman's world history project in Mrs. Whitesell's class.

Miss Lindsay looks on approvingly as Vickie Burton delivers a biographic report in American History.

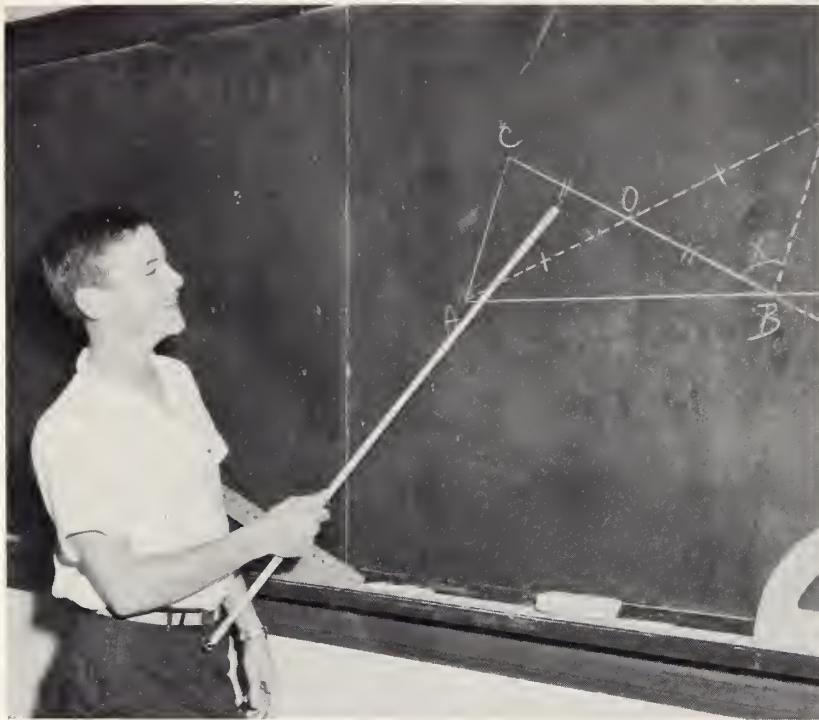

The exciting events of an election year, both on the state and national levels, furnished material for lively discussions and debates in history classes at HPHS. Newspapers, periodicals, news broadcasts, and the magazine "Every Week" provided a background for understanding the major issues of the day.

HPHS participated in the TV teaching of American history from UNC. Students watched television lessons for the first thirty minutes of the hour, then heard discussions led by the classroom teacher. Many classes, without the aid of television, studied the dramatic story of man as told in both American and world history. Related fields of study included geography and problems of American democracy.

Discussion of problems of American democracy bring questions from Steve Ramsey, Mike Dunlap, and Jim Margan.

Doug Shirley uses his knowledge of plane geometry to explain why bewildering triangles are congruent.

Math and science challenge the curious.

General math, business arithmetic, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, solid geometry, and college algebra were the courses offered this year at HPHS.

Ambitious students, following the new trend, enrolled as sophomores in plane geometry and Algebra II in order that they might take advanced courses during their remaining years in high school.

In business math, future business leaders learned income tax reporting and accounting, while others interested in laying the foundation for achievement in today's technical world pursued all the advanced math courses offered at HPHS.

Supplies were purchased through the National Defense Education Act and distributed by Mrs. Christine Stephens, new department head.

Mrs. Roberts assists Morcio Holder and Jimmy Hort as they figure out the complexities of a chemistry experiment.

"Think" is still a key word for advanced algebra students, Tommy Strickland, Jim Brucki, and Windley Dunbar, especially on Friday's tests.

Science courses at HPHS proved to be a real challenge to the students. In biology, sophomores learned to reason scientifically and to use laboratory equipment properly. Five full-time teachers introduced their students to the amazing world of plant and animal life.

Many juniors and seniors pursued chemistry, while those who desired knowledge concerning physical changes in matter enrolled in the physics class. New equipment for science study was purchased through the National Defense Education Act.

In biology class, Ronnie Morris peers intently at a minute animal, whose only intention is to skitter shyly out of focus.

Mrs. Dockery's physics students, Doyle Early, Jim Van Anda, Neil Brackett, Wayne Lewallen, and Mike O'Connor, note the radioactivity count in various metals.

Sponges are an interesting object of study in biology for Scott Hester, David Pruette, Donna Sowers, and Joy Purcelle.

In the attractive "practice house" quarters on first floor, students of home economics planned programs on child care and development, clothing, foods, health, housing, and interior decorating. In addition to learning about aspects of family living, the future homemakers gained skill in planning and working harmoniously with people of their own age.

Home economics courses at HPHS sought to make the students aware of the value of a good home. The girls learned to cook for their families and to plan and make many useful garments.

Through the development of practical homemaking projects, the students learned to work independently toward the solution of personal or homemaking problems. In addition, they learned the management of resources — time, energy, and money — as well as the techniques of housekeeping. These courses helped students to meet the actualities of everyday life and become trained for solving future problems.

Home ec and business courses prepare

Miss Estelle Carabateas, practice teacher from High Point College, talks with home economics students on rules of health.

Ann Dillian uses a sewing machine in home economics in preparing her term project, a dress.

students for success in the future.

Under the direction of Mr. Berryman T. Cudd, the business education department at HPHS offered courses in typing, bookkeeping, shorthand, and business mathematics.

Business mathematics offered students an opportunity to work with such problems as aliquot parts and skills related to the field of business.

A dictaphone machine, a spirit duplicator, and a mimeoscope machine were used in conjunction with the typing courses.

Business English and accounting principles were the new courses offered in the business curriculum. They both added to the development of HPHS business leaders.

Mr. Cudd helps Gwen Staut, Zana Lanier, and Sylvia Embler to organize and record the endless rows of figures they encounter in bookkeeping class.

Abstract Art? Not at all. Shorthand students Patsy Safrit and Fanda Hampton write the strange hieroglyphics that have meaning only to the initiated.

Industrial arts offer chance to create.

The hands of this mechanical drawing student, Perry Auman, grow in skill as he enjoys the challenge of making an intricate drawing on special green paper.

Students of HPHS who elected industrial arts courses gained knowledge and practical skill in designing, drawing, and building various articles of wood and metal.

In mechanical drawing classes, students learned to make detailed working drawings, including blue prints and house plans.

In wood shop courses, the boys made a variety of articles. Using hand and machine tools on rough oak, cedar, and walnut, they turned out prized results: cedar chests, wardrobes, and bedroom suites.

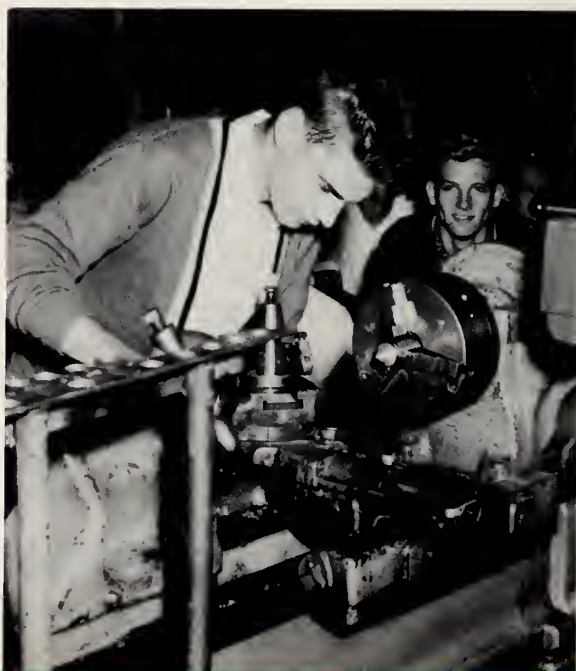

The scream of a buzz saw punctuates the air as Bobby Dunlap works rough rosined boards into smooth, shining table tops.

Kenard Johnson, Joe Nelson, Dewey Reece, Lloyd Stone, Bill Michael, Bobby Hedrick, Phillip Teer, and Larry Hedrick display their outstanding projects which won awards in a state industrial arts contest.

Service trays, ash trays, and lamp stands were produced in the metal work shop by boys who had mastered the operation of welders, metal lathes, milling machines, and surface grinders, as well as metal casting procedures.

Members of this metalworking class look on with observant eyes as H. M. Daniel solos on the metal lathe.

Under the direction of J. Frank Shields, Herb Hipps, A. J. Simeon, and J. Don Meyers, students of HPHS learned safe driving practices.

The nine-weeks' course was divided into two periods. During the classroom phase, students learned the rules and regulations of the road and took tests to determine reaction, time, depth perception, steadiness, visual acuity, eye dominance, and glare and color vision. During the under-the-wheel phase, students completed the required eighteen hours in the automobile. In the dual control cars, they mastered smooth starting and stopping, turning, parking, backing, and driving — both in traffic and on the open road.

Mr. Shields teaches David Conrad that good vision is an important part of good driving. Joe Slate records David's field of vision score.

Driver education teaches rules of safety.

Boys' gym classes warm up with a series of exercises like the deep-knee-bend before beginning any competitive sports.

Boys' gym classes seem to enjoy basketball more than any other seasonal sport.

Students of HPHS having Physical Education on their schedules looked forward to a period of pleasure and learning on the playing field. Developing muscular skills and good sportsmanship, they engaged in both team and individual sports, as well as gymnastics.

Under the direction of Miss Pat Hester, the girls played the team sports of basketball, volleyball, speedball, and softball; and the individual sports of track, handball, archery, ping-pong, badminton, shuffleboard, and tennis.

Coaches A. J. Simeon and George Stavnitski executed a well-planned program designed to teach physical skills and to provide enjoyment of various sports. The program included the team sports of touch football, basketball, volleyball, and softball, plus the individual sports of track, wrestling, handball, and tennis.

Fun, sports, and sportsmanship fill

Deep-knee-bends prove to be a problem of strength and balance for the girls' physical education classes.

Girls in physical education classes look forward to basketball just as much as boys—even if the rules are a little different.

Music Awards Day is a time for recognizing the hard work and achievement of students in the music department. The award winners for 1960 are Josephine Dunbar (seated), Arion Award in orchestra; David Williams, Virginia Frank Orchestra Award; Ronnie Walker, Arion Award in band; and Jimmie Hedgecock, Arion Award in choral group.

Orchestra excels again with new director.

Under the direction of Mr. E. Barry Ruth, the HPHS orchestra prepared for the many performances demanded of them during 1960-61. The orchestra played in assembly programs, presented many concerts, and participated in various contests. In December the orchestra took part in the HPHS Music Department's presentation of Handel's "The Messiah." Later the group participated in the Piedmont Orchestra program and in the North Carolina Music Educators' State Orchestra Festival. Several members of the group were selected as delegates to the All-State Orchestra in Raleigh.

A special feature of the year was the participation of the HPHS orchestra, along with the Junior High orchestras, in the High Point Fall Orchestra Festival. Presented in November, this program was the first of its kind in High Point.

Marching band practices in long sessions

Before football season begins, the marching band must learn when and where to stop or start, just as Howard, Strickland, Nichols, Wade, Cagle, Harvell, and Setzer are doing here.

Led by Drum Major Robert LeFever and seven majorettes, the HPHS marching band added an abundance of color, spirit, and music to nine football games this year. Decked out in their bright uniforms and new blue hats, they participated in many local parades. On October 15 they journeyed to Chapel Hill for the annual University of North Carolina Band Day. Along with other bands of the state, they took part in the half-time show of the Carolina-Wake Forest game.

The marching band was composed of members of the concert and symphonic bands. Both majorettes and band members worked faithfully at daily practice under Mr. Carter's direction. Their reward was the plaudit "Well done" from the student body.

MAJORETTES—Doby, Stalder, Gibson, Wiley, Craven, Davis, Watkins.

Four concerts each and a combined special concert in the spring formed part of the year's activities for the concert and symphonic bands. In April the groups participated in the annual State Band Contest in Greensboro, earning good ratings in the competition. Soloists and ensembles won outstanding ratings in the State Contests at Duke University. Both individual and band musicians performed in auditions for the honor of becoming members of the All-State Band.

Commodores highlight events with music.

Under the direction of Mr. David Carter, the dance band, better known as the Commodores, prepared a varied repertoire of lively dance music. During the 1960-1961 school year they made various public appearances. They furnished music for the PTA Open House, numerous civic club meetings, the annual HPHS Talent Show and played at other schools in the Piedmont area.

Practicing regularly gave the dance band members the necessary unity and teamwork to produce good musical quality in rhythm, melody, and harmony. The band was enthusiastically received on many occasions.

Boys playing in the dance band during the past school year included Robert Torres, Keith Yokely, Bobby Garner, Alan Howard, and George Sherman, saxophone; Billy Davis, Tommy Strickland, and Charles Southern, trumpets; Herb Dorr, Kenneth Clark, Glenn Wheless, and David Conrod, trombones; Jimmy Troxler, drums; and Gary Melnikov, piano.

The Commodores make with some cool, sweet swinging and magically turn the sock hop into a ball equal to any that Cinderello ever attended.

Advanced choirs strive for perfection.

Under the direction of Mrs. Nancy Ferrell, the A Cappella Choir and the Charalettes brightened many occasions during the year with their music. Highlighting the year was the singing of The Messiah by the combined choirs at Christmas.

The two groups participated in the District Music Cantest in the spring and were represented at the annual Festival Charus in Greensboro. Combined with the other choirs, the A Cappella and the Charalettes sang in the spring concert. Finishing a year of work and enjoyment, the A Cappella sang for the baccalaureate service at graduation. Both choirs entertained assemblies, church groups, civic clubs, banquets, and neighboring colleges during the year.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR OFFICERS—Barry Schultheiss, president; Betty Lewis, secretary; Judy Brutan, treasurer; Llyd Maare, vice-president.

ADMINISTRATION ...

HIGH POINT CITY SCHOOL BOARD—Mrs. John Womock, Mr. W. H. Marlette, Chairman
W. A. Tomlinson, Mr. R. M. Campbell, Mrs. Evelyn Thompson.

City School Board plans for future.

W. A. TOMLINSON
Chairman of Board,
High Point City Schools

For the High Point City School Board, 1960-61 was a year for great decisions and duties. They finished the building of Northwood School and made numerous additions and improvements for the other schools in the city. At HPHS they provided for the re-painting of the interior of the building and added much new equipment.

New to the High Point City School Board was Mrs. J. A. Womack, who succeeded Mr. D. A. Rawley. Mrs. Womack, whose chief community interest is education, worked with the Board and Administration to meet the needs of an expanding school system.

Other members of the Board included Mr. W. A. Tomlinson, chairman; Mr. W. H. Marlette, Mrs. Evelyn Thompson, and Mr. R. M. Campbell.

These five public-minded citizens contributed a real service to the schools and to the community.

MR. D. P. WHITLEY
High Point High School Principal

Principal D. P. Whitley encouraged students to prepare for leadership in the community by participating in school activities now. He set an example of leadership in the community and state by his membership in various organizations. He served as president of the North Central Schoolmasters Club.

Superintendent Dean B. Pruette's field of leadership was widened during the year by his visit to Europe. Dr. Pruette observed educational practices in Russian schools and reported his findings to groups in High Point and other areas of the state.

Dr. Thayer served this year as Director of Instruction for High Point City Schools. A leader in education, he was vice-president of the North Carolina Education Association.

DR. LLOYD Y. THAYER
Director of Instruction for High Point City Schools

Administrators perform tasks efficiently.

As director of guidance services, Miss Frances Haywood co-ordinated the work of the guidance program. She worked with the administration, the faculty, the students, and the parents to provide information and counseling for all students.

As counselor and sponsor of the senior class, Miss Haywood advised concerning college selection and career choice. In addition, she supervised College Entrance Examination Board Tests in the High Point area.

With enough duties to keep more than one executive busy, Mr. Vance, dean of HPHS, managed to keep a calm appearance while dealing with the problems of an expanding school system.

Although Mr. Vance's main duty was to issue a bulletin of absences, tardies, check-outs, and truancies each day, many students sought him for some additional help or service. His manner of handling daily problems, his friendly, helpful advice, and his optimistic outlook promoted good relations between faculty and students.

Students seek dean, counselor for advice.

Secretaries manage office efficiently.

Mrs. Johnsie Jackson, office secretary, explains the use of the record cards to Gloria Pirtle.

Sorting the mail is only one of the numerous tasks performed by Mrs. Doris Teague, assistant secretary.

Mary Muckenfuss hurries to place the mail in the boxes before the teachers arrive in the morning.

"Mrs. Jackson in the general office can answer your question," was the advice given to inquiring students during the past year. Although Mrs. Jackson usually faced a desk piled high with work, she was never too busy to answer the questions of students.

Mrs. Jackson's secretarial duties included taking care of money and general business affairs. Among the latter were filing reports, supervising the bus drivers, telephoning, writing business letters, issuing books, and efficiently managing the general office.

Mrs. Doris Teague, as assistant secretary, was responsible for statistical reports. She registered new students, answered telephone calls and inquiries, compiled office data, and helped Mrs. Jackson in the general office. She also supplied information to students and teachers. One of her most valuable services was assisting the seniors in preparing their college entrance applications and getting their transcripts mailed on time.

IN MEMORIAM

MISS ROSE SMITH
MRS. LIDIE P. HORTON

Teachers like to chat during lunch in their dining room as much as their students like to talk in the main cafeteria.

CLASSES...

Many happy hours are spent at High Point High School. Some are spent studying and working, but some are passed talking with friends. In a group of fourteen hundred students and teachers, it is impossible for a student to become acquainted with everyone. However, the quality of friendship is equally as important as the quantity.

New friends can be made in many ways. Getting acquainted in the classroom, working together in clubs and organizations, cheering at ball games, attending sock hops and proms, and taking part in other student activities furnish opportunities for lasting friendships.

Each year new friendships are made, and each year old friendships fade into the background. Some classmates move out of town, and some leave to go to college or to work at jobs. One class must leave dear High Point High School each year, but the students depart with happy memories and many treasured friendships. Truly high school years are times to be cherished!

Lunchtime in the cofeterio provides on opporunity for talking over the morning's events ond planning later activities with friends.

Any time that is not filled with closswork is usuolly filled with friendly conversotion, such os this session in Miss Neely's homeroom before the 8:40 bell.

Seniors pack final year full of events.

Graduation — the goal of the 400 seniors of the class of 1961 — brought to the minds of many people memories of four happy, active years at Senior High School. Class officers, Dale Walker, president; Judy Bruton, vice-president; Geneva Blackburn, secretary; and Jeannette Shirley, treasurer, along with class adviser, Miss Frances Haywood, led the class in the choosing of senior superlatives and mascots, Cathy Teer and Billy Leatherwood.

From the senior class came the majority of officers and leaders for all school clubs, athletic teams, and honorary societies.

ciety, and final exams were all events long to be remembered.

Then, at last, the long-awaited day arrived. As the largest class ever to graduate from High Point High School filed down the aisles of the auditorium to the familiar strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," all seniors realized that one important era in their lives had ended. What counted was not how many hours they had spent, how hard they had worked, but what they had accomplished.

Class of '62 begins year with zeal

Keeping pace with other classes at HPHS, the class of 1962 began a term of capable leadership. Under the direction of Mr. A. J. Simeon, adviser, they elected officers, held numerous meetings, and chose blue-stoned class rings.

In October the juniors, looking towards future educational plans, attended College Day to interview representatives of the various colleges.

One of the most outstanding events of the year was the production of the class play, a farce-comedy in three acts entitled "No Moon Tonight," under the direction of Miss Eleanor Tapp. Presented on November 18 and 19, the play was quite a success. The proceeds from the play went to pay for the Junior section in the PEMICAN and to finance the Junior-Senior prom, an event much anticipated all the year long.

Five per cent of the Junior Class was tapped in a National Honor Society induction, which took place during the spring term.

The juniors made many contributions to their school. They participated in sports and speaking activities.

Numerous willing and eager class members donated portions of their time, serving as marshals, or POINTER or PEMICAN staff members. They also helped the Council carry out many projects.

New experiences, new faces, a new school greeted the sophomores as they entered HPHS in September of 1960. This year the sophomores came not only from Ferndale Junior High but also from the new Northeast Junior High. They entered right in to make the term of 1960-61 a rewarding year and were soon a part of the busy schedule of the school.

First on the program of the tenth graders were the class elections. Early in October they chose the following officers: Tully Crockett, president; Jerry Lawson, vice-president; Patty Lewis, secretary; Becky Hill, treasurer; and Martha Dover and Ronnie Taylor, representatives to the Upper House. Led by these officers and their class adviser, Miss Landry Neely, the sophomores conducted a successful magazine sale in November as a means of raising class funds. The high-selling home-rooms and top individual salesmen were awarded valuable prizes. Profits from the sales campaign were used to defray the expenses of the Sophomore section in the PEMICAN and to finance the Sophomore prom—the most anticipated social event of the year.

Sophomores held prominent positions in sports, service clubs, musical organizations, councils, and publication staffs. Participation in these projects was one of the many ways a student could become a vital part of HPHS.

By the end of their first year at High Point High, sophomores become quite familiar with the shape of the sentinel-like tower.

Afternoons at High Point High offered so many activities, you could not possibly participate in all of them. You spent seventh period working on the PEMICAN or POINTER, or serving in the offices, school store, cafeteria, or library . . . . After the 3:30 bell the various clubs kept you busy attending meetings and carrying out their projects. That favorite sport brought you over to the gym for afternoon practice or just to watch others enjoy themselves. There did not seem to be enough time for everything . . . . However, the afternoons were yours, and you spent them in a way that gave deep satisfaction.

Visitors to the PEMICAN offices on first floor no doubt noticed the buzzing activity of the staff members there. Editor Connie Newnam and adviser Louise Tapp were busy apportioning "jobs" to the 54 members of the staff. Associate editor Becky Bradner was intent upon identifying pictures and placing names on index cards, while business manager Jean Craven was engaged in organizing advertising campaigns to spur salesmen on to greater effort.

Early last spring the theme of this year's book was worked out by the new staff—"cheerful, challenging, and changing times at High Point High" . . . From that day the activity began in earnest. Portraits and organization pictures were taken; copy and captions were written; pictures were identified; art work was created; and advertising was sold.

High light in the fall was the day when the NSPA "All-American" award announcement arrived. Other triumphs were the First Place honors given by NSYA and CSPA.

News articles, feature stories, sports, interviews, editorials, photography, and advertisements were all part of the ten issues published by the staff of the 1960-61 POINTER.

Headed by editor-in-chief Jimmie Lue Hart, associate editor Sue Latimer, and editorial adviser Miss Eleanor Young, the editorial staff worked daily to keep students informed on the latest happenings at High Point High School. Other members of the staff were Linda Cabot, feature editor; Frankie Peters, sports editor; and John Womack, Buddy Nash, and Ronnie Staley, photographers.

The business staff, headed by business manager Janie Goodson, assistant manager Sally Osborne, and business adviser Mrs. Lyda Sowers, sold advertisements to help finance the POINTER.

The 1959-60 POINTER was awarded an All-American rating by the National Scholastic Press Association publication critics. This was the first All-American rating received by the POINTER since 1948.

Student Council forms new organization,

The student Council's purposes are to establish and maintain leadership, fellowship, democracy, and a closer relationship between faculty and students; to encourage co-operation and participation in activities and to promote a higher moral standard. All students enrolled in school are members of the association and have the privilege of voting.

Divided into Upper House and Lower House, SC was guided by Doyle Early, president; Gary Gregg, vice-president; Betty Lewis, secretary; and Miss Louise Hunter, adviser.

President Early saw that SC rules were properly executed, presided over the Upper House and at student body meetings, and handled SC's correspondence. His other duties included representing the student body at various activities. Vice-president Gregg presided over the Lower House and represented the students at various meetings.

Activities included sale of book covers, Teacher Appreciation Day, Club of the Month, Talent Show, D. P. Whitley Memorial Scholarship, letters and baskets of fruit to visiting athletic teams, and a new organization, the Inter-club Council, composed of the presidents of all the clubs in school and committed to the task of stimulating club activities.

Membership in NHS rewards students who

Deserving juniors and seniors pledged themselves to uphold the standards of the National Honor Society in an inspiring candlelight ceremony, held twice this year. After each induction a reception was given in the home economics living room for new members and their parents. Miss Maxalynn Mourane was adviser.

The Honor Society was composed of outstanding students picked for their scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Except for the National Honor Society Service Award, this was the greatest honor that could be bestowed upon a High Point High School student.

Selling stationery, sending CARE packages to needy countries, giving a coke party for teachers, and co-sponsoring College Day were all projects carried out this year.

Twenty-five years ago a chapter of the Beta Club was organized at HPHS, and year after year the members have completed many projects in the service of their school and community. This year juniors with an average of 92 and seniors with an average of 90 were eligible for membership.

Their efforts to serve began as school opened. In October the club, in co-operation with the National Honor Society, sponsored College Day. Through the assistance of various civic clubs interested in advancing education, the Beta Club awarded a scholarship to a deserving student. In April the group was represented at the State Beta Club convention held at the George Vanderbilt Hotel in Asheville, North Carolina.

Projects completed during the year included the following speaking contests: Voice of Democracy, My True Security, and World Peace. In addition to taking part in the class plays, Masque and Gavel members presented a talent assembly program and a group of one-act plays. They participated in the Invitational Spring Speech Festival, and, in cooperation with the speech class, sponsored a field trip to Washington, D. C. The group was represented at the state convention held at Wake Forest College in Winston-Salem.

Quill and Scroll, the international society of high school journalists, rounded out its fourth year of work at HPHS. Chartered in 1958, the group was organized to encourage and reward individual achievement in school publications. Members were chosen on the basis of scholarship, citizenship, and meritorious work on the staff of PEMICAN or POINTER. An impressive induction ceremony was held in the auditorium on May 17.

Students recommended from the POINTER staff were Sue Latimer, Jimmie Lue Hart, Judy Cameron, Pat Thompson, and Frank Peters. Those recommended from the PEMICAN staff included Becky Bradner, Connie Newnam, Rose Ann Boyles, Lettie Mehan, and Carleen Samuels. Each member had served two years on school publications.

Advisers of Quill and Scroll were Miss Eleanor Young and Miss Louise Tapp.

For students interested in learning more about woodworking, the Vocational-Industrial Club was available for the first time. The club made a good beginning by winning second prize for their float in the Homecoming parade.

Advised by Mr. W. K. Whitesell, the club, composed of boys taking vocational courses, rendered many services to the school and community. With an eye for beauty and quality in furniture, they worked faithfully to produce some really artistic pieces to adorn their own homes. Along with their regular work, they mended broken toys for the Christmas Cheer Fund. In promoting better understanding of the opportunities in vocational careers, the boys toured several local furnitures companies. In all their projects they sought to carry out the purpose of their club: "To strive for a better future."

Key Club members control special parking,

The Key Club, sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club and advised by Mr. Eulis Bays and Mr. Joe Don Myers, was composed of boys interested in serving their school and community. Twice a year boys desiring membership were asked to compose paragraphs stating their reasons for wanting to become a part of the group. Members were selected on the basis of the application and the all-round good character of the individual.

The purpose of the Key Club is to develop leadership, to serve the school and the community, and to prepare for useful citizenship.

During the year the Key Club completed several projects in the service of their school and community.

These projects included raising the flag every morning and lowering it at the close of the day, providing the faculty with parking facilities, and controlling parking on College Day and Homecoming Day. At all home football and basketball games, the boys sold programs for the convenience of fans who did not know the names of the players. They also served as gymnasium attendants and helped to maintain order in the gymnasium at home basketball games. During Christmas they filled food boxes for the workers of North State Telephone Company. In addition, they presented the school with a new fifty-star flag. The highlight of the year was the annual Key Club convention held in Columbia, South Carolina, and attended by a majority of the members.

Officers of the Key Club for 1960-61 were Ashley Morris, president; Jim Morgan, vice-president; Chuck Ritchie, secretary; Dickie Koontz, treasurer; and Cary Boggan, chaplain.

"To promote citizenship" was the purpose of the newly-organized High Point Junior Civitan Club, which received its charter from the High Point Civitan Club on November 30, 1960. The group met every other Wednesday at 7:30 o'clock. Membership was based on papers submitted by students desiring to become members.

The Junior Civitans' main project for the year was the District Convention held here in May. They also helped the Civitans sell fruitcakes. In September, Tommy Smith, Bill Abernathy, and Barry Schultheiss represented High Point at the Junior Civitan Convention in Charlotte.

Officers of the Junior Civitan Club for the year 1960-1961 were Barry Schultheiss, president; Larry Rice, vice-president; Steve Weavil, secretary; Bill Okey, treasurer; Dale Walker, chaplain; and Ken Cook, sergeant-at-arms.

The National Forensic League, advised by Mrs. Rachel Roberts, won honors at a four-state district convention held in February, including first place in debate and dramatic interpretation, second place in extemporaneous speaking for boys, second place in original oratory, two outstanding speaker awards, and one superior rating award. The sum total of these honors won for the group the sweepstakes trophy.

At the Southern Speech Association in March, the debating team composed of John Eddinger, Michael Pierce, Jerry Proffitt, and Barry Hyman won an excellent rating. At the same meeting Sylvia Freeman achieved an excellent rating in dramatic interpretation.

Delegates attended the Wake Forest College Spring Festival, where they won awards in debate, original oratory, poetry, extemporaneous speaking for girls, and dramatic interpretation. Again they brought home the sweepstakes award.

Accompanied by Mrs. Roberts, delegates attended the National meeting of NFL at San Diego, California, where they participated in several speaking contests.

Working at the Rehabilitation Center in Greensboro proved to be a very inspiring and satisfying service project for the Senior Y-Teens. Dressing dolls for the Christmas Cheer Fund organization was a successful service project for the Juniors. All members participated in the making of Homecoming floats and Christmas floats.

Going on caroling expeditions and preparing boxes for needy families were included in their Yuletide activities.

The highlight of the year was the grand opening of the new YWCA building on Gatewood Avenue. With these expanded facilities, the Y-Teen group had a greater opportunity to further the Christian way of life through its members.

Advised by Mrs. Martha Rogers, the Future Teachers of America experienced a busy year filled with various projects and activities.

The club's main project—selling name tags—proved to be very successful. The highlight of the club year was the observation of primary classes at elementary schools. Service was the FTA motto, and its members proved their efficiency by serving at numerous dinners and banquets. In addition, they took an active part in Education Week held in November.

FTA's varied programs helped in cultivating the qualities essential in a good teacher and in fostering the development of student leadership. Movies, guest speakers, and panel discussions were a few of the educational programs given to help emphasize the importance of teaching and the benefits and rewards to be derived therefrom.

Among other things, favors were prepared to send to nearby hospitals and convalescent homes, and a gift chest was filled to send overseas. The chest filled last year was one of the best and was shown at area training centers throughout the Southeast.

Plans were made to send members of Junior Red Cross to a summer session at Camp Green Cove in Tuxedo, North Carolina, for leadership training courses in preparation for even better work next year.

Officers for the year 1960-61 were Fred Pugh, president; Patsy Peatross, vice-president; Gaynell Cromer, secretary-treasurer. These three officers, together with Martha Dover and Judy Hodge, made up the Junior Red Cross Council at Senior High.

High Point Junior Red Cross Aides, in neat blue-and-white uniforms, completed their second year of community service by working in the Orthopedic Clinic at the Health Center, in the Bloodmobile during the summer, in the infirmary at the Presbyterian Home, and in Memorial Hospital on Saturdays and Sundays. Duties at Memorial Hospital included escort duty and work in the new hospital library.

This volunteer group was organized in High Point in 1959 through the efforts of Mrs. Belle Reid Ennis and Mrs. J. Archie Myatt, Jr., of the High Point Red Cross Chapter House.

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character" is the motto of the Hi-Y. This organization, under the sponsorship of the local YMCA, carried out several worthwhile projects during the year.

The boys met with Adviser Murphy Osburn once a week to plan service and social activities. They sponsored a Clean Speech Campaign by distributing printed cards encouraging students to demonstrate Christian ideals through the use of clean language. They contributed food, clothing, and money to a needy family at Christmas and made a substantial donation to the World Service Fund. Religious emphasis was a part of their regular programs.

In August of 1960, Gary Gregg was one of two hundred delegates from the United States to attend the World "Y" Youth Conference in Hilveraum, Holland.

Composed of lettermen in athletics, the Monogram Club carried on many useful projects during the past year. To raise necessary funds, they sold Bison baaster tags, sweat shirts, pennants, and Bison car stickers. The profits received from these enterprises enabled the club to place in the gymnasium the flags which represent the various schools in the Central 4-A Conference.

During the year the members endeavored to uphold the dignity of the High Point Monogram Club. They tried to encourage boys in their school work and to set an example of good sportsmanship and conduct.

Monogram Club members sought always to carry out the purpose of the organization—"to help develop at High Point High School the highest athletic standards on a foundation of true sportsmanship; and to create a closer band of fellowship and loyalty between lettermen.

The club met bi-weekly with their adviser, Coach A. J. Simeon, to plan the athletic program.

FBLA does secretarial work of teachers.

A really big project for FBLA Club members this year was to do secretarial work for teachers. This type of work was begun when the club was chartered in 1955. Advisers were Mrs. Mildred Mallard and Mrs. Eleanor Price.

The purpose of the FBLA is to give students practical business experience. To be eligible for membership, a student must pursue at least one business course.

FBLA members, Lindo Slate and Libby Surratt, do typing and test duplicating to help fulfill the club's project of helping teachers.

This year the members sponsored a Book Week program and assisted with the faculty tea. In addition, they sent CARE packages overseas.

Twice a month the group gathered with Mrs. Poston, their adviser, for a staff meeting. Carol York served as president. The group sent delegates to both district and state conventions.

The Library Club, composed mainly of students from the library staff, performed many services for the school, and, at the same time surveyed the field of library science as a possible vocation.

of Latin, to study ancient customs.

The Junior Classical League organized at the beginning of the year with the purpose of promoting a better understanding of the Latin Language and of keeping alive the torch of classical civilization in America. Advised by Miss Louise Hunter, the club was composed of those students who had completed, or who were pursuing a course in second-year Latin. All students who had previously served as slaves became masters, and the new members were slaves.

The first social event of the year was the induction of new members into the league. During the year the members studied Roman history and religion, learned Roman songs, and produced Roman plays. They also studied the customs of the Romans, with emphasis on food and clothing. Near the close of the year they served in ancient style a banquet of typical Roman food. At the JCL convention, HPHS delegates had charge of devotions.

Ruth Folger and Sharon Frazier admire each other's slave costumes in anticipation of the annual Roman banquet.

Members of the French Club met on the fourth Thursday of each month at the home of a member. The purpose of the club was to stimulate an interest in French and to acquire skill in conversation beyond that of the classroom. Miss Mary McDavid was the adviser.

Activities for the year included programs and projects. Members completed several projects, subject of which ranged from making hats and posters to reading French novels. Meetings were conducted in French, and the outstanding program of the year was a discussion of French provinces. The final meeting of the year consisted of a French dinner prepared and served by the talented chefs of the club.

As a part of their program, club members encouraged sophomores to study French. In addition, they participated actively in the observance of National Language Week.

Special guests speak to Spanish Club.

SPANISH CLUB OFFICERS — Jane Webb, president; Ellen Eaves, vice-president; Linda Cabat, secretary; Arthur Hyde, treasurer.

The Spanish Club gained understanding of Spanish-speaking peoples by studying their customs and their way of life. Advised by Mrs. Kay Hill, the club met in the evening twice a month. Outside speakers were features of several programs.

Eight members of the group carried out the first project of the year by entering a float in the Homecoming Parade. The group took an active part in the observance of National Language Week by giving devotions in Spanish and by participating in skits given at elementary schools. Through contagious enthusiasm and direct appeal, club members encouraged sophomores to undertake the study of Spanish as their modern language. Outstanding social event of the year was the Christmas party.

Stimulated by the new development of the space age, the Science Club members turned their attention to new problems in science. Programs were planned to supplement general classroom procedure through the use of films, illustrative material, and practical demonstrations. Lectures by science specialists were features of several meetings.

The club, which had a two-fold purpose—stimulating interest in, and learning more about science—continued its spring projects of helping sponsor the Science Fair. Ferndale and Northeast junior high schools were in-

New club stresses radio knowledge, ability.

Training members to qualify for an amateur radio license and making plans for Field Day operations during the summer of 1961 were two activities of the HPHS Amateur Radio Society. Organized in 1960, the group was under the direction of Mr. Sheffield.

The group also functioned to help members obtain radio equipment—an HT-37 transmitter and an SX-111 receiver. This equipment was licensed by the FCC with the call sign W4SQK. Because amateur radio plays an important part in emergency communications by getting messages out of and into troubled areas, the organization stressed co-operation among members in improving of radio knowledge and ability.

SERVICES...

Student assistants donated many hours of time and energy toward the maintenance of the General Office. Among their many duties were taking phone messages, running errands, helping students who came to the office for information, listing and recording data, unpacking and stamping textbooks, and sorting the mail.

Student workers in the Dean's office, under the supervision of Mr. Vance, performed all the tasks necessary to keep the office humming. These volunteers handled the morning attendance records, interviewed all students who desired check-outs, ran errands, answered the phone, and issued tardy slips. The staff included twenty girls who were selected from recommendations of teachers. Besides contributing to the school's daily success, the assistants gained experience in dealing with the public.

Girls serve as student secretaries;

Student secretaries, a committee composed of select members of the Future Business Leaders of America, rendered many valuable services to members of the faculty and to the school. Under the supervision of Mrs. Mildred Mallard, Mrs. Eleanor S. Price, and Miss Sandra Medford, these secretaries typed and duplicated tests, and miscellaneous items in an estimated volume of 57,952 sheets, representing 1,260 working hours. In addition, they spent many hours on varied projects.

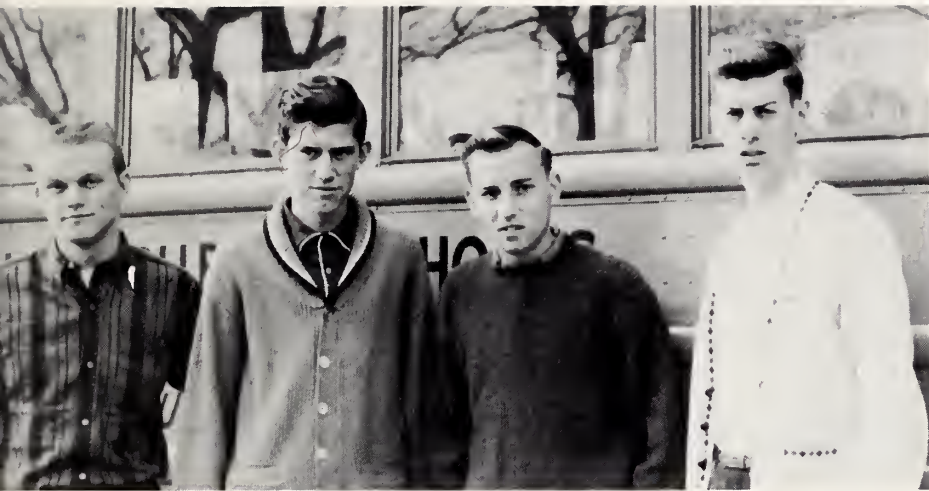

Members of the telephone office staff sacrificed their study time for the benefit of HPHS students. Each period two members of the staff contributed to the efficient maintenance of the telephone office. They kept the office orderly and directed proper use of the telephone, including the enforcement of a three-minute time limit on telephone calls. The telephone office was a service of the Student Council.

Under the direction of the general office, five student drivers operated the school bus system. These drivers, Ronnie Tharp, Robert Outlaw, Don Glidewell, and Richard Patton furnished transportation to many students living in rural sections.

To qualify as a bus driver, each boy must be a volunteer and must possess a driver's license. In addition, he must undergo a special period of training, including classroom work and road work.

Several students served their school by adding to the efficiency of the cafeteria. They acted as cashiers in the lunch lines, served food, and washed dishes. In payment, each received his lunch.

The student store was one of the most important parts of HPHS this year. Supervised by Mrs. Dorothy Whitesell, the store was open from 8:40 in the morning until 3:30 in the afternoon. Two girls assisted each period, volunteering their study time to be of service to the school. It required real patience and courtesy on the part of a clerk to flash a big smile when a customer cried: "I need three pencils, a cartridge, and two packs of paper. Make it quick."

Yes, these girls were truly essential to the school. Students could not have done without them. Not only did the girls answer the demanding cries of the customers but they also kept the store in immaculate condition. At the same time they gained valuable sales experience.

The library staff checked books in and out of the library, put cards in the books and returned them to the shelves, filed cards for the card catalogue, and prepared books for circulation. The staff also worked on the library bulletin boards. Mrs. Nancy Poston was adviser.

Composed of boys interested in radio electronics, the radio staff operated station WHPS at 89.3 megacycles, broadcasting music and school sports. One of the few schools in the area to have its own station, HPHS maintained high standards of broadcasting.

Advised by Mr. Sheffield, the projection staff assisted teachers in the use of audiovisual equipment and record players. The boys also showed movies to scheduled classes.

People behind-the-scenes keep HPHS neat,

Three gentlemen employed fulltime by the High Point city schools rendered effective service to HPHS during 1960-61.

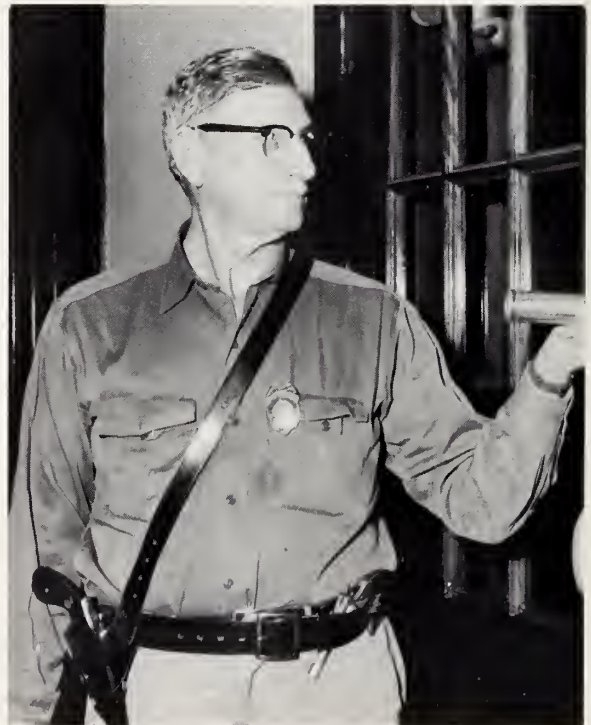

Mr. Jack M. Cox, superintendent of building and grounds, kept the physical aspects of the school in good condition. He and his staff replaced light bulbs, repaired clocks and desks, adjusted window shades, and maintained the lawn. Their know-how with mechanical equipment helped to make the school day go well.

As purchasing agent, Mr. Walter F. Jones, Jr. was in charge of buying equipment and supplies for the High Point city schools. His behind-the-scenes duties contributed to the daily success of the school.

Night watchman Robert W. Ring was always on hand to turn out lights after night events, to lock doors, to inspect buildings and grounds, and to keep a vigilant watch over our two-and-one-half million dollar plant.

REIDSVILLE: Reidsville's Golden Lions were a little tarnished as the Black Bison won their first game of the season 18-6. Reidsville scored first, but the Bison quickly tied the score with a pass from T. Marley to C. Ritchie. In the last half, the Bison scored on a pass to Jim Simeon, who then made a beautiful TD jaunt. Raymond Rogers led a 67 yard drive, scoring from the 10 yard marker.

WILMINGTON: In the second game of the season, the Black Bison defeated New Hanover High of Wilmington. Both teams moved the ball almost at will in the first half. The Bison were led by the passing of T. Marley and the running of E. Banks and J. Simeon. The second half was a different story, however, as neither team could record a sustained drive. A bad snap from center and an alert Bison line resulted in a safety, making the final score 22-20.

DURHAM: Playing host to the Durham High Bulldogs, High Point's Black Bison team dominated the first half of the game with T. Marley passing to C. Ritchie for two touchdowns. The Bison went into the second half with a 12-6 lead before Durham unleashed a powerful offensive attack that sent second stringer, Jimmy Durham, over for three touchdowns. REYNOLDS: Although they were hampered by the absence of three-fourths of the starting backfield, the Bison displayed the best defense of the season against R. J. Reynolds in Winston-Salem. High Point moved the ball well, with L. Sherrill doing the passing and M. Murrow the running. Late in the fourth quarter, R. J. Reynolds scored on a lateral to fullback Bill Flintom for a 7-0 victory. The Bison defense held the Black Demons to fifty-two yards rushing.

LEXINGTON: In a home game the following weekend, the Bison met the Lexington Yellow Jackets. The first half was nip and tuck, with the Bison on the long end of a 7-0 half-time score. In the second half the Bison offense began to roll. Led by the passing of T. Marley to C. Ritchie and a 74 yard jaunt by E. James, the Bison left the field with a 27-7 victory.

James running 67 yards for one score and Marley going over for the other. Salisbury closed the gap to 14-13 at halftime. In the second half E. James ran for three more touchdowns, and T. Marley passed to C. Ritchie for one, to give the Bison a 40-19 victory. Bison defense was led by R. Haywood and G. Carr.

REIDSVILLE: The Black Bison Homecoming game against Reidsville was a very tight contest with neither team able to muster much of an offense. The only score of the contest came in the second half when E. James rounded end for six points. E. Banks led the offense in the 6-0 Bison victory.

CHARLOTTE: Journeying to Charlotte to take on the Harding Rams, the Black Bison fought a hard game, putting the teams at halftime in a 13-13 deadlock. Harding scored in the third quarter on a short pass. High Point was unable to score, and the game ended in a 20-13 loss for the Bison. Outstanding on defense for the Bison were M. Dunlap and M. The Burlington offense began to roll, and the Bulldogs enjoyed a 12-6 half-time lead. Burlington continued to move in the second half, topping the Bison 27-6 in a hard-fought game. J. Morgan and R. Halfback Jerry Armstrong led the team in scoring with a total of nine individual tallies. Tommy Myers and Ricky Larrick, with two touchdowns each, along with Quarterback John Cheek, were other outstanding players. The Junior Varsity beat Salisbury and Gray, lost to Burlington and Greensboro twice, and split a pair of outings with R. J. Reynolds to even out the season.

EAST MECKLENBURG: The Bison won the opener of the season 49-43 over the Eagles of East Mecklenburg. Paced by Bill Vick and co-captain, Dunlap, each with 13 points, the Bison had a battle to the finish.

Rebounding played a feature role in the win. Led by Butch Wolfe, High Point was able to control the backboards throughout the game. However, in the closing minutes of play, the foul shooting of co-captain Harold Moose, and the outside shooting of Bill Vick brought home the win.

BASKETBALL MANAGER—Travis Wright.

RALEIGH: The Capital City handed High Point its first loss of the season by a score of 42-33. The height and accuracy of the Raleigh team made staying in the game difficult for High Point. Only the fast break in the third period saved the Bison from a worse defeat. Bill Vick was the life line of the Bison, collecting 17 points to lead the local scoring.

REIDSVILLE: A dramatic final second shot by Bill Vick gave the Bison their second win of the young season. With the score tied 40-40, Vick came into the game and calmly tossed a shot from the corner, giving the Bison a 42-40 decision.

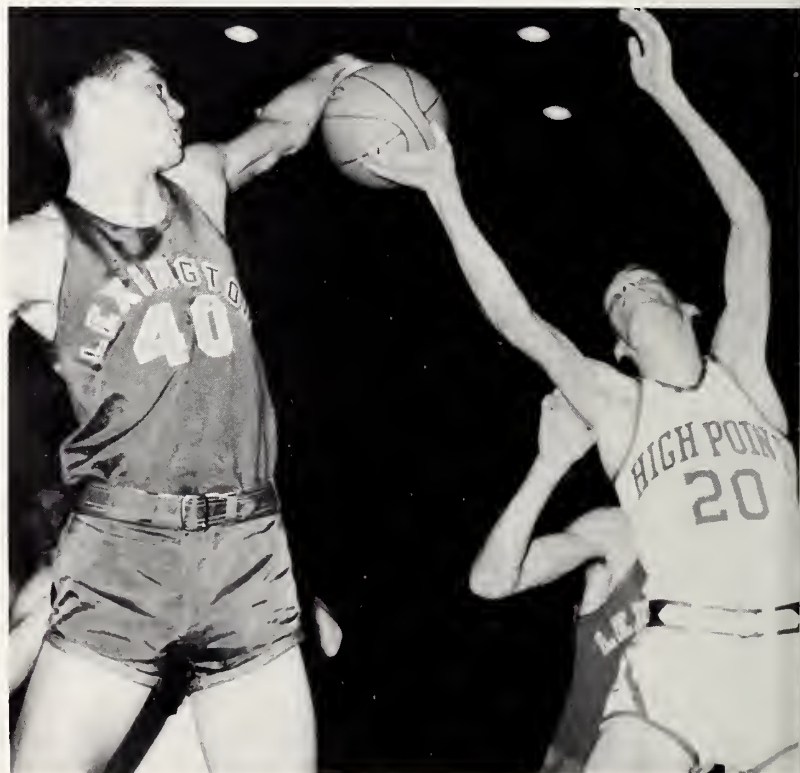

Leading scorer was Mike Dunlap, co-captain, with 15 points.

GREENSBORO: In its next game, High Point yielded to Page of Greensboro by a score of 65-49. Still pressed by the height and rebounding ability of Page, High Point managed to have a fair first half. Bill Vick was high scorer for the Bison with 16 points.

A charging foul on Jim Simeon with less than a minute to go was the downfall of the team. Two baskets in the last minutes of play gave Gray a 55-53 win over the Bison. High scorer for the locals was Bill Vick with 19 points.

RALEIGH: Waiting for only the best shots, the Bison were able to pull out a 38-35 win over the boys from Raleigh. With revenge in mind from their first meeting, the Bison played their best game of the season. Vick was the high scorer of the game with 13 points, while the floor play of Moose, Simeon, and Rich was the feature of the entire game.

GREENSBORO PAGE: Having trouble hitting shots from the floor as well as on the foul line, High Point met its second defeat of the season by Page 68-59. Although the Bison outscored the Pirates from the floor, they were beaten at the foul line by 13 points. High scorer for High Point was Vick with 16. Close behind with 14 points was Butch Wolfe.

GREENSBORO: During their first encounter with the Greensboro Whirlies, the Bison yielded to their arch rival 51-35. High Point had 10 balls intercepted during the game—a decisive factor in the loss. Taking few shots during the first half, High Point was behind 28-7 at halftime. Coming back with a zone press defense in the second half, the Bison were paced by Moose and Rich, each with 10 markers.

REYNOLDS: High Point had trouble with Reynolds' offensive press in the second half to come out on the short end of a 56-36 decision. Dunlap and Wolfe were plagued with foul trouble, which was a break for Reynolds. The Bison were good under the boards, but foul and floor shots were bad. Leading scorer for High Point was Jim Simeon with 9 points.

EAST MECKLENBURG: Having a bad third period as usual, the Bison were stopped by East Mecklenburg 61-49. A press in the fourth period was not enough to give the locals a chance to catch up. Leading scorer for the Bison was Rich with 14 points.

GREENSBORO: Rebounds caused much trouble in the 58-34 loss by the Bison. Greensboro had almost complete control under the basket, while High Point could do little more than hang on after the first period. Rich collected 8 rebounds for the Bison, leading in that department. Simeon led the scoring with 10 points.

One good part of the Bison game this year was free-throws. With nine games remaining in the season, the Bison had a good chance for improving their record.

Under the direction of Coach Larry Bostian, the Black Bison finished the 1960 baseball season with a record of five wins and six losses. These heavy losses lowered the Bison from second to fourth place in the Central 4-A Conference. Hurlers for the Bison were David Kemp, Gerald Swaim, and Jimmy Stevenson. Harold Moose .310 and David Kemp .321 were the Bison power hitters.

Members of the 1960 Bison tennis team, coached by W. E. Marlette, bowed to three opponents, tied one match, and soundly defeated Greensboro Senior High in a well-won score of 6-3. However, net men from Cranbrook, Lexington, and a strong team from Reynolds High were too much for the struggling Bison, who went down in defeat against these two rivals.

Bad weather failed to give the Bison an opportunity to recoup their losses in a match with Burlington, and Salisbury's squad held the local team to a draw. The victory over Greensboro's Whirlies was achieved by the determined attack of Bison co-captains Leon Raper and Lyman Dillon, along with aid from Bill Davis, Glenn Wheless, and Richard Carmichael.

Boasting several individual standouts but lacking in team depth, the Black Bison track team placed fourth in the Central 4-A Conference. Individually, co-captain Jim Fuller and Jim Marley, along with Richard Rackley and Tom Honeycutt, were outstanding track men. Fuller, specializing in the shot-put, lost only once in that category during regular meets. Participating in the 100, 220, broad jump, and relay, Jim Marley was overall scorer for the team. Rackley, high jumper, Honeycutt, an 880 man, and Marley went to the state meet in Raleigh but failed to place in that contest.

In keeping their motto, "A girl for every sport, a sport for every girl," the members of the Girls' Athletic Association participated in a vigorous sports program throughout the year. Under the leadership of Miss Pat Hester, adviser, the girls won many victories in speedball, basketball, volleyball, and field events.

During the spring term the girls participated in two play days. The first, the GAA Play Day, was in Greensboro. Later at a Sports Day in High Point, they exhibited their skill in both individual and group sports.

During the year the girls went bowling together, attended ice hockey games together, and worked as concession stand aides at the basketball games. As a reward for their services, the girls were given a vacation trip to Carolina Beach in April.

In all their sports activities, GAA members sought to live up to their maxim: "Sportsmanship is greater than victory."

Varsity cheerleaders, led by Kathy Jowett, injected much vim and vigor into the student body at games and did an excellent job of boosting the team's morale. Kathy's enthusiastic helpers were Becky Bradner, Mary Frances Stanton, Brenda Dockery, Kay Hedrick, Brenda Hinkle, Price Marsh, Becky Smith, and Linda Tunstall.

The cheerleaders were on hand at all the football and basketball games. They sponsored pep rallies and sock hops, and had complete charge of Homecoming festivities. In their white sweaters and blue-and-white gored skirts, they skipped along the side lines, leading the yells of students and heightening the fervor of shouting sports enthusiasts.

Leading yells was not the whole duty of the cheerleaders. Before the beginning of school, they were hard at work selling advertising for the athletic programs. The main project for the year was their work toward securing pennants in the school colors of all the schools in the 4-A Conference. These pennants were presented and displayed in the gymnasium at the beginning of basketball season.

The Junior Varsity cheerleaders led cheers at all the home football and basketball games. Parents of one of the members furnished transportation to the out-of-town games.

Helping the Varsity cheerleaders with Homecoming duties, decorating the stadium and gymnasium, and selling mums as a money-making enterprise were among the services and projects completed by the Junior Varsity group. Miss Pat Hester was adviser.

Their steady practice and hard work to build school spirit paid off well for the JV cheerleaders when the JV football team had its best season and best support in many years.

Homecoming 1960, sponsored by the cheerleaders, proved to be the most spectacular event of the football season.

Organizations and classes prepared 24 gaily decorated floats for the parade on October 21. The float sponsored by the Future Teachers of America won first place in the competition.

The gridiron contest between High Point and Reidsville drew an enthusiastic crowd and proved to be a well-played game. The score was 6-0 in favor of High Point.

Highlighting the day's activities was the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, Nana-beth Dutton. Escorted by Harold Moose, Miss Dutton received the crown at the hands of High Point's Mayor pro tem Hobart Bryant. # College Day presents students challenge.

Students take advantage of College Day to discuss their future plans with various college representatives.

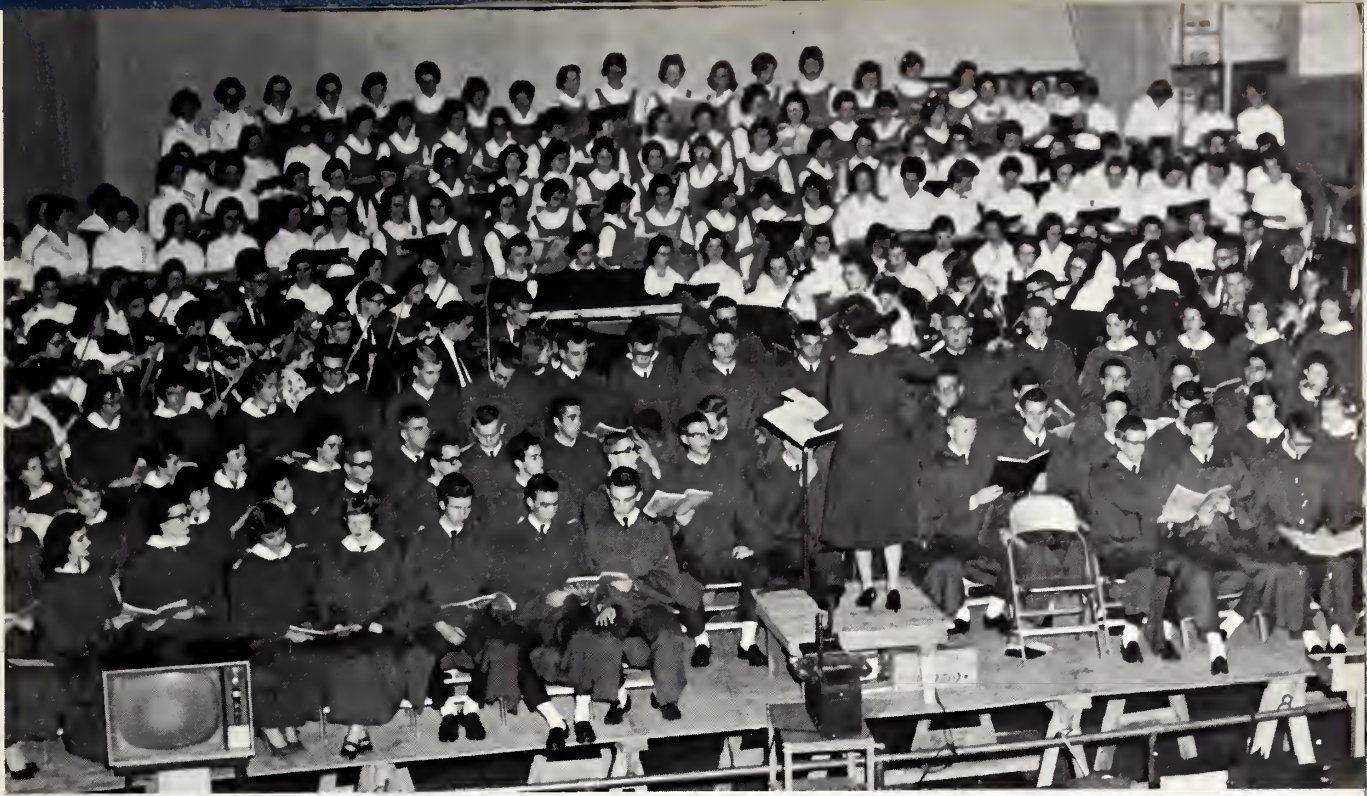

On College Day, Carolyn McAllister consults the representative of High Point College about entrance requirements of his school.

Students of High Point High School had the opportunity on College Day, October 19, to confer with representatives from fifty colleges located in North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia. The College Day program, an annual event at High Point High, furnished opportunity for long-range thinking and planning.

Sophomores, juniors, and seniors who were interested in continuing their education after graduation from high school talked with the representatives about scholarships, college entrance requirements, applications, and estimated expenses at the college of their choice. In addition, the students discussed their own high school records.

Sponsors of College Day were members of the Beta Club and of the National Honor Society. They entertained the representatives with a coffee break, which provided opportunity for a social get-together. The sponsors also accompanied the college group to lunch in the school cafeteria.

This year for the first time the orchestra and chairs combine to give Handel's The Messiah.

The Messiah, composed by George Frederick Handel, was presented on Dec. 11, 1960, in the Junior High School auditorium by the combined choirs of the music department. The program was directed by Mrs. Nancy Ferrell, with the assistance of Mr. Barry Ruth. Groups participating were the A Cappella Choir, Choralettes, Girls' Glee Club and Boys' Glee Club—a combination of 210 voices. They were accompanied by Lelia Clinard, pianist, and the high school orchestra. The choruses presented the following: "And the Glory of the Lord," "O Thou That Tellest Good Tidings," "For Unto Us a Child Is Born," "Glory to God," and "Lift up Your Heads." The concluding number was the "Hallelujah Chorus."

Soloists were Mrs. Robert Rankin, soprano; Miss Sylvia Freeman, contralto; George Clark, tenor; and Gilbert Gray, bass.

Jacqueline (Jac) Grayson (Judy Culp, Fonda Asbury), a college girl, was spending the summer with her family on the lakeshore.

Julia March (Sylvia Saunders), the owner of the city newspaper which Jac's father (John Eddinger, Frank Peters) edited, had founded a summer theater merely to further the ambitions of grand-daughter Rosemary (Libby Surratt, Martha Wampler).

Rosemary and Jac were soon at odds over the important roles and over Dan Lyons, the director.

Other members of the cast included Toni Rochelle, Rose Anne Boyles, Lettie Faye Mehan, Jane Webb, Sharon Frazier, Joy Watkins, Carol Ann Bryden, Brenda McDowell, Jerri Kinney, Sue Latimer, Carolyn Conrad, Annette Chamblee, Jerry Proffitt, Michael Pierce, Barry Hyman, John Eddinger, and Dale Walker.

There's "No Moon Tonight" because it's raining, but this doesn't daunt these characters portrayed by Rodger

"No Moon Tonight," a farce-comedy in three acts, was presented by the Junior Class on November 18 and 19. The play was directed by Miss Eleanor Tapp.

The girls' roles, as customary, were doubled, each girl giving a performance on one of the two nights.

The cast was headed by Jimmy Hart, who played Mr. Terry, amateur astronomer. Mrs. Terry (Karen Austin, Balinda Davis) tried hard to understand her husband. Their three children were Ellen (Judy Gilliam, Vicki Snider) Susan (Ruth Folger, Carolyn Culler), and Bill (Bill Barker).

Laughter and suspense began when Ellen filled out an application recommending her father as director of a Chicago planetarium. When Susan accidentally mailed it, undreamed of results came about.

During the calamity, romance entered the atmosphere when Jim, the football coach (Ricky Bell), fell in love with Ellen.

Other members of the cast included Mrs. Winkle, the housekeeper (Grace Reitzel, Linda Slate); Mrs. Bracken, sister to Mrs. Terry (Marcia Holder, Marian Diack); and Mr. Duncan, a business man, (Steve Hyman). John Siegel served as stage manager.

'For Dancers Only' is talent show theme.

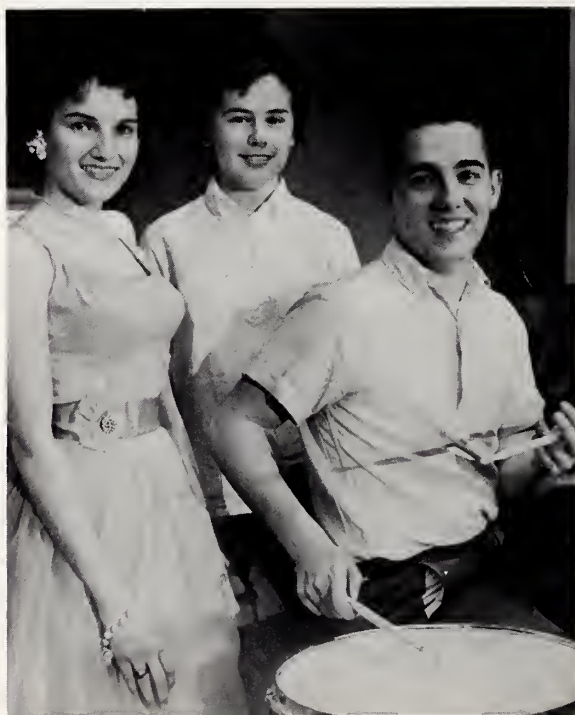

Glenda Cain captivates the audience with her excellent voice and professional style.

Sponsored by the Student Council, the 1960 Talent Show followed the theme "For Dancers Only," a production in two parts—the first act a rehearsal of the show, and the second act the television show. The majority of the numbers, including singing, dancing, baton twirling and instrumental numbers, were accompanied by the dance band under the direction of Mr. David Carter. Bill Davis was Master of Ceremonies for the evening presentations on April 22, 23, and 25.

Student committees worked with faculty advisers on scenery, publicity, tickets, set decoration, make-up, stage, and lighting. A committee of girls who served as marshals collected tickets and distributed programs.

Sophomore Prom features 'South Pacific.'

At last the thirteenth day of May had arrived; they could tell that something was going to happen. If a person did not know what was going on, all he had to do was to go down toward the old gymnasium to see the changes taking place.

Yes, this was the day of the Sophomore prom. The gymnasium could hardly be recognized as it had been transformed into a tropical island, complete with swaying palm trees. The theme, "South Pacific," was written Delicious refreshments were made and served by the Home Economics department.

Juniors, seniors anticipate spring prom

A former HPHS student, Pally Yaw, entertains during intermission of the prom.

To the melody of "Summertime," juniors and seniors danced through a gay evening on May 8. As the couples entered the transformed gymnasium, they were captivated by the romantic atmosphere. The combined fragrance of roses, orchids, carnations, and gardenias added to the general effect.

To the music of Art Lopez's band, the dancers floated around the floor.

Intermission brought a special treat: Miss Polly Yow, graduate of HPHS and now a teacher of music at Ledford High, gave her rendition of old favorite songs.

Then the crowd gathered for the awaited moment—the presentation of class and club sponsors with their escorts. All was silent for a moment, and then the honored ones had their dance.

The music resumed, and all too soon came the voice, "This is your last dance." With tired feet but light hearts, the dancers departed, some never to return to dear High Point High School.

Seniors thought, "All is over except the memories . . . the campus with its shade trees and its bright green grass; the classes where we sought knowledge; the games, the plays, the proms . . . friendships, joys, pains . . . each was important in our school lives . . . The dreams—they are yet to come!"

It is no easy job to live a rich, full life or to understand yourself sufficiently to know what a full life is. It is certainly far from an easy job to build a world that will be better than the one that exists today. These things cannot be done without diligent inward searching, free experiment, and discipline. By careful usage of time in the past four years, you prepared for the future wisely.

As you walked across the stage for the last time, you realized that your high school days had been a journey which was leading you ever closer to success. You found not only heartaches and frustration along this road but also happiness and satisfaction.

That memorable night in June you knew that you had reached only the first destination; but you had found new confidence in being able to say, "I am a graduate of High Point High."

There are the evenings which find HPHS dark and austere on the outside but glowing with life from within.

Thus our years at High Point High must come to an end. Sorrowful—yes, but happy, too. And in these years, what has this building meant to us? "Nothing at all important, unless it suggests that Truth is the only foundation on which we can build an enduring life; that Character, and Character alone, will hold our lives together and enable us to stand erect; that we should keep the white-walled corridors of our heart free from stain; and that we should hold in mind a noble purpose, nobly executed, which will make our lives beautiful and useful."

Miss Louise Tapp helps high salesman, Jane Jackson, plan the advertising layout for the Pemican.

THANKS

The book is written now and soon will be laid away. We have forgotten all the work and worry it caused us, but the fun and learning have become wonderful memories.

We couldn't close, though, without expressing our special appreciation to several very wonderful people. First, Mr. Whitley, you have been our encouragement through picture-taking days, copy schedules, and those awful deadlines. We could always count on you to know just what to do.

Teachers, we know you became disgusted with us at times—having continuous interruptions for photography, keeping records of picture money and Pemican orders, and letting us out of class during those really rushed days. You were understanding and thoughtful throughout the year, especially when we needed your help most.

Mrs. J., Mrs. Teague, Miss Haywood, and Mr. Vance, you will never know how much your words of praise and condolences meant to us. When everything went wrong, and we felt like giving up, you said just the right thing to keep us going. Mrs. Poston, we are sorry to have bothered you so much, but the library certainly was a good place to take pictures. Thank you!

Students of High Point High, you have been the greatest. You were more than patient with our picture-taking and identifying. Please forgive us for being so secretive about the cover of the Pemican. You really didn't want us to tell, did you? This book is especially for you. We hope that it will become a treasure chest of memories from your high school days.

Buddy, John, and Ronny, you have made this book possible. We know we have fussed and fumed when your pictures didn't turn out or when you didn't get the right pose, but we take it all back. Thank you for putting up with us.

Carleen, Linda, Tobie, Susan, Libby S., Sylvia, Claudette, Barbara, Penny, Nancy L., Sandra, and Patsy, your job was one of the biggest—identifying and labeling "umpteen" pictures. Jane, Annette, Ellen, Libby C., and Starr, yours was the tedious, nerve-racking job—compiling and recording the mountain of Senior Statistics. Mary D. Judy, JoAnne, Martha, Freida, Nancy S., Jill, and Ruth, writing copy may not have seemed like an important job to you, but the finished products were invaluable to us.

Price and Betsy, since we aren't artists, you should know how much your talents meant to the completion of the book. Doyle, Bob, Jay, Jimmy, Mary M., and Anne, with your help the sports section was completed with a minimum of trouble compared to other years.

The indispensable workers were Nancy Shelton, Joyce, and, especially Pat, who stayed many hours after the 3:30 bell to type the piles of copy, statistics, and indices. We can't thank all of you enough for your volunteered help and moral support.

Special thanks go to Phil and Gary who gave up more than one Sunday afternoon to help us with our work on the book. You didn't mind too much, did you?

To the sixteen members of the business staff and especially Jane J., who sold an unbelievable number of ads, we want to give certificates of merit for keeping us "out of the red." A big "Thank you" also goes to the wonderful people at Delmar for their advice and sincere interest in our yearbook.

We have saved the biggest thanks for Miss Louise Tapp, the best adviser a yearbook staff ever had. You put up with our noisy antics, our hard-headed whims, our moments of disgust, and novice mistakes. We could never express all the appreciation that is due you for the many, many out-of-school hours you worked.

Once more may we express our deep thanks to you all. This book means everything to us; we hope it means as much to you.

Connie and Becky
